MODERN AUSTRALIAN
 Long-term resident chef Anthony Musarra's departure from this attractive room late last year made a space for the young provençal chef, Paul Pairet. Pairet's food is not only full of flavour, but also whimsy. They may not be there when you get there, but such dishes as pickled pork hock in a pumpkin, and best leg into Sydney like a breath of fresh mistral. Private dining by arrangement for 16 and 30 people. Non-smoking area.
 Dinner 7 nights. Booking rec. Licensed.
 Main courses about $21. Major cards.
